

THE BULLDOG

Zombie Flick Attracts Local Talent

by Jasmine Johnsey

This summer, Adriana Trent and I auditioned for a movie created by an up-and-coming local producer, Wade Lux. Students across Central Nebraska were reached through Speech and Drama teachers and informed of available parts in a small movie. The day of the audition, Adriana and I were prepped. We practiced every hour on our duo script and made sure lines, along with non-verbals, were memorized perfectly.

Flower appreciating zombie?
Oh the irony...

Jumpy all the way to the Kearney Library, we envisioned what Wade would be like, how he would react, even what he looked like. All we knew for sure was we had to wow him. We did not expect to find a shaggy-haired, skinny, Michael Moore look-alike who barely looked older than we did. In fact, Miss Hurt stayed just to make sure the auditions were legitimate. Not only did we nail our audition, but we also got cast as Jasmine and Adriana (names changed for us, of course), two of the movie's supporting roles.

The movie, "Brain Dizeaze" (misspelling intended), is technically a "zombie" movie, but it has undertones about the dilemma of taking care of those who can't take care of themselves. "I originally wanted to deal with some of my fears of aging and dementia," Wade explains. "I had grandparents with brain issues on both sides of my family, and I've spent quite some time wondering if I'm going to end up that way," he admits. "What will I remember? What will I forget? Does it matter?" continued inside.....

Nebraska plains make the perfect backdrop for a zombie flick.

Career Builder Scholarship

By: Denise Zweiner

The Pleasanton Career Builder Scholarship Committee welcomes the addition of the Kurt Keaschall Family Scholarship and the Faye Wendt Memorial Scholarship to the scholarship fund. In 2013, the Pleasanton community raised $3,457. The Kinman Oldfield Trust matched an additional $2,250 dollars. Last year the following students were awarded $500 scholarships; Career Builder – McKenna Ahrens, Jon Kohlscheen, Breann Zimmer; Faye Wendt Memorial – Kara Dael; Kurt Keaschall Scholarship – Jake Neal. The Committee also partners with Melissa Olson to sponsor Pleasanton Juniors to the Nebraska Leadership Institute. Last year the following Juniors attended the conference; Addie Hand, Amanda Baillie, Maddi Paitz and Shelena Zwiener. A special thank you to Pleasanton fans and Sandhill Thedford fans supporting the Tailgate Fundraiser. Funds raised will go towards the support of local student scholarships.

PHS Drama Prepares Pretty (Deadly) Princesses

by Lani Martin

Murders in the Magical Kingdom seem to be the theme for the 2014 One Act Production, Game of Tiaras by Dan Zolidis. If you have ever seen the HBO Series Game of Thrones you will have a pretty good idea of what this play will entail. The twist on the plot is the cast is made up of Disney characters, primarily Disney Princesses. As three princesses fight over their father's kingdom, they are willing to commit any act of violence to get what they want.

As the competition deadline approaches, the drama team has been meeting twice a week during school and once a week after school to polish and perfect this year's play. The Bulldogs will perform at the Dollars for Scholars Soup Supper on November 21. The first competitive performance will be the FKC One Act Competition on November 25 at the Tassel in Holdrege. Following that will be the District Competition on December 3 at the SEM High School. Thank you to all the parents who have provided meals! We hope everyone can make it to our performances and thank you for the support!

Homecoming Week

by Brooke Darby

The Pleasanton High School Homecoming week began with hard work and ended with a Neon Night. On Sunday, Junior/Senior High students gathered at the school to decorate for a fun filled week. They made creative locker signs and put tissue paper on the lights in the high school hallway. The red tissue illuminated the hall in pink light for an extra dose of school spirit.

Monday was Disney Day. Tuesday the students participated in Twin Day. Class Theme Day was on Wednesday, and the student body turned pink on Thursday for the Pink Out Day. School Spirit Day was celebrated Friday.

After the football team suffered a tough loss to Sandhills Thedford, everyone gathered for the announcement of Homecoming Royalty. The previous king and queen, Jon Kohlscheen and Shayla Keim crowned the court. The second attendants were Kale Miller and Hannah Wick. The first attendants were Colton Lammers and Kristen Tolles. The king and queen were Brendan Axmann and Taylor Nichols. The crown bearers were Kindergarteners Evan Kucera and Emme Westland.

Pleasanton Band Marches Their Way To The Top

by Hannah Wick

The band has been working really hard this year in the gym with the band room still under construction. Made up of 45 members, the band competed in two parades this year. Under the leadership of drum majorettes, Maddie Paitz and Kayla Fischer, the band received an Excellent rating at both parades. Hannah Wick represented the band as Miss Pleasanton at the Harvest of Harmony parade in Grand Island. Everyone is excited to start working on concert music for Christmas. The Christmas program is December 18, and the elementary program is December 11.

The seniors' share a sentimental moment at their last parade together.

The band looks sharp at Harvest of Harmony.

Your Donations Make A Difference

By Hannah Wick

Great News! For the first time, the Pleasanton Community Fund was able to grant more than $1,000/$2,000. They approved over $4,000 for local requests. Thank you Pleasanton Community for your great support of your local Fund within the Kearney Area Community Foundation. Due to the growth of the fund, more was granted. Keep your donations coming. They are making a DIFFERENCE!

Recipients:

- Hannah Wick--$1,700 for guest speakers for her Girl Scout Project "Start a Chain Reaction of Care, Kindness, and Compassion."
- Hunter Safety Instructors--$1,000 for materials to start a teenage refresher course and maintain it for four years.
- Deb Smith--$1,100 for reading chairs
- Vicki Maupin--$537 for a new marching band banner

"WARMING HANDS, WARMING HEARTS"

GIRL SCOUT SERVICE PROJECT

By Hannah Wick

The Girl Scout troops in our community will be accepting donations for gently used and new winter clothing items between November 18th and 30th. These could include gloves, hats, scarves, coats, etc. You can donate your items at any of our drop off locations; Town and Country Bank, Cut N' Curl, Community Center, and the nurse station at the school. Let's help warm the hands and hearts of those in our community! For questions, contact Kami, Steph, or Jane.

Zombie Flick

Bethany Cook, playing herself, attempts to film Adyson Furlong and Jaci Vetro's experiences as zombies who are taken care of by my character, aptly named Jasmine. Jasmine wants to contain the zombie-like creatures in order to feed and study them. Friends, Britain Blare and Adriana Trent are less than thrilled with Jasmine's plan and Bethany's desire to capture it all on camera. Also involved are, Alex Rieflin as Wade's right hand man, and Hayden Howe as the makeup guru.

Minden native Wade Allen Lux found interest in movies at an early age. In junior high, Lux was inspired by Tarantino's Reservoir Dogs and the book Rebel Without A Crew by Robert Rodriguez. However, he would not come to realize his dream of pursuing writing and filming until his sophomore year when his guidance counselor advised him to "find something you love and make it your job." While trying to think of his life passion, he kept getting distracted by the special features on his copy of Spider-Man 2. "From that moment, at age 16," Wade says, "I knew I wanted to do something with movies."

During his junior year in 2005, Wade and his best friend began experimenting with miniDV camcorders and Windows MovieMaker. "The FIRST ONE,"

Wade quickly

Wade spend hours in front of the computer editing and choosing the best shots. Today, Wade utilizes skills learned as a former Video/Audio Communication Arts major at Metropolitan Community College in Omaha, NE.

Other than his new creation, Wade has written two feature-length screenplays, and filmed two shorts, one of which earned recognition at the Omaha Film Festival. When asked how his ideas form, Wade cooks up a sarcastic remark by replying, "From my brain, duh, but it takes me a long time to think out something I want to do. It's a stew on very low heat. I just keep tossing in random ingredients; whether they're influences from something in my life or just whatever movies I happen to be into at any given time."

Britan Blair (Ord), Bethany Cook (Alma), Jasmine Johnsey (PHS), Alex Rieflin (Doniphan), Jaci Vetro (Kenesaw), Hayden Howe (Kearney), Writer/Producer Wade Lux (Minden)

Overall, Wade believed it to be a wonderful experience working with the cast.

For fun, cast members were questioned about their first impressions of Wade and the other cast-mates. Alexander Rieflin replies, "Wade is very laid back. I don't have words to describe it . . . It was just kinda Wade." Apparently it took Alex a while longer to warm up to me. "I thought Jasmine was gunna kill me at some point," he says. "But she is a really good friend. I made friends with everyone there and I believe that we'll be friends for a very long time," Alex concludes. Personally, this experience gave me insight into other people's worlds and made me realize that it takes people from all walks of life to create a true work of art. The cast was eclectic and crazy, but it was our differences that made the process of filming so much fun.

Student Poems

Being Young

by Madeline Paitz

Being Young

Is more than an age.

It's a time when you weren't worried

And stressed.

You didn't have a care in the world.

You were still learning from the curiosity the world offers you.

You were small and adorable

And looks didn't matter.

Nowadays

You want to be young again

Just so you can go back to the way things used to be

When it was simpler

Or

What happened?

But the answer is simple

It was a time

Before the world intruded.

Dancing

by Hannah Wick

It's pretty magical

Colors of yellow and red

Spinning and dancing

All the way around

The lovely autumn leaves

Not having a care in the world

Just leaping and dancing

Anywhere they please

It reminds me of new love

How beautiful the sight

Lovers smiling and dancing

Not a single worry on their minds

It's simply wonderful

Autumn leaves and lovers

Just dancing

Without a care in the world.

Reading Up a Storm

Students at PHS are "Reading Up a Storm" this year for the Accelerated Reading contest. Classes compete against each other for the highest average points per person. This quarter the 11th grade barely squeezed by the 8th graders for top readers.

Point averages were:

1st Place: 11th Grade 44.04 points

2nd Place: 8th Grade 43.5 points

4th Place: 12th Grade 32 points

5th Place: 7th Grade 23.3 points

6th Place: 10th Grade 16.1 points

Top individual readers are also recognized.

This quarter, the top ten readers include:

Heather Dunning 270.9

Sammie Phillips 265

Calli Hunter 140.8

Rachel Rowe 139.3

Dalton Loeffelholz 129.6

Devin Trampe 90

Mackenzie Metz 87.4

Corryn Falk 79.3

Keegan Linder 67.1

Noah Young 63.9

Excellent job readers!

Keep up the good work.

Pleasanton Alumni- Brent Bauer

by Becky Shafto

"So, what's the buzz?" Around PHS, the "buzz" is 1999 graduate, Brent "Buzz" Bauer. Buzz, as he is known to his Pleasanton buddies, loves football! It is his favorite sport. He enjoyed being part of the Bulldog football team. "I always say the 1997 football team was the best in school history. This would have been my junior year. Our 1st round playoff game up in Stuart was a great experience for all of us. We got out of school early, Denise Giffin can tell you about the long bus trip and "welcome committee" at some road construction along the way. The game kicked off at 3:00 P.M on a great fall afternoon, and we absolutely destroyed the Stuart Broncos. We played great that day!"

Today, Brent is known as "Coach Bauer" to the Gator football team at Wisner- Pilger High School. He has been the head football coach and K-12 physical education teacher for seven years. Brent has actually been a football coach for 14 years. He was a volunteer coach at Pleasanton in 2000; an assistant coach in Axtell in 2002; an under-graduate assistant at UNK the following year; a head coach at Loup City for the 2004 and 2005 seasons; and an assistant coach at Grand Island Senior High in 2006 and 2007. To say Brent loves football is an understatement, he says, "Any chance I got to wear the uniform of the Pleasanton Bulldogs was truly special. I am constantly telling our players at Wisner-Pilger, TAKE ADVANTAGE OF EVERY OPPORTUNITY YOU HAVE TO WEAR YOUR SCHOOL UNIFORM!"

Coach Bauer has influenced many players over the years. But who inspired him? "Jim Martensen was someone I really admired. I wanted to be a "football version" of Coach Martensen. I wanted to teach P.E. and coach because of him. Jim Ellenwood was another teacher that really inspired me. I enjoyed his personality and communication style. He was someone that always forced you to think outside the box. I always wanted to teach P.E., but if I ever thought about teaching something else, it was present and your future. Let the haters control the past. Accept the challenge of accountability for your OWN FUTURE. Regardless of your financial situation or whatever other "hindrances" you may feel are present in your life, don't make excuses. Growing up I could have made a lot of excuses; "Not enough money", "Not a nice enough house", "Not a lot of parental involvement in my education" and many many more. The truth is, many other kids have had it much worse than I did. We always had food, always had clothes. I wanted to go to college, so I went to college; I wanted to become a football coach, so I became a football coach; I wanted to become a teacher, I became a teacher; I wanted a Masters Degree, I got a Masters Degree. Don't find a reason to convince yourself that you cannot accomplish your dreams. DON'T FIND EXCUSES! FIND SUCCESS!"

Brent's education has been as varied as his coaching jobs. He spent the year after graduating from Pleasanton High School as a ministry intern at New Life Assembly Church in Kearney. Spring of 2001 found Brent attending classes at Central Community College in Grand Island. In the fall, he began classes at UNK.

Brent graduated with a teaching degree from the University of Nebraska Kearney in 2007. He has endorsements in K-12 Health and P.E., 9-12 Drivers Education, and K-12 English Second Language / English Language Learner.

Wayne State College is where Brent earned his Masters Degree in P-12 School Administration last year.

Brent and his wife of seven years, Wendy, live in Wisner, Nebraska. They have a four year old son, Jacoby and a two year old daughter, Blakely.

Coach Bauer has some advice for current Pleasanton players, "BE AN ATHLETE! Embrace every opportunity to wear the RED AND THE WHITE OF THE PLEASANTON BULLDOGS! GO DAWGS!" He added, "I am very proud to be from Pleasanton. It's a badge of honor. GO BIG RED!"

Ricci Westland were coaches that really helped me out when I was growing up. We had very little money when I was a student. I didn't get a car until I was a senior in high school! Mr. Brockhouse, Coach Westland and even Mr. Wymore at times would give me a ride home after practice. My family and I truly appreciated the way they helped me out!"

What does Coach Bauer have to say to his players? "This is what I preach to our players at Wisner-Pilger, Do not be an excuse maker. Don't look for excuses, and then you won't find excuses. You are in total control of your

"Allison is a hard worker and a wonderful friend to others. She is respectful to her classmates and adults. She tries her best in reading, writing, math and language. She is thoughtful when others need help like helping pick up crayons or markers on the floor. She is also helpful to me whenever I need someone responsible. Allison is my student of the month. -Mrs. Blevins

Senior Spotlight

Brendan Axmann

Brendan Andrew Axmann, son of Kraig and Karen Axmann, has participated in football, basketball, track, and drama. Brendan considers himself a fun and outgoing student. Brendan's favorite high school memory is, "During freshman year when Nicho and I got kicked out of English class because I stuck a jellybean up my nose during presentations." His favorite subject is math due to the relationship he has established with Mrs. Hand. After high school, Brendan plans on going into an HVAC program but is undecided on where he wants to go. Brendan's advice for underclassmen is, "Enjoy and make as many memories as you can!"

Brooke Darby

Brooke Sloan Darby, daughter of Jon and Jody Darby, has participated in cheerleading, dance team, journalism, science club, FBLA, drama, and yearbook. Brooke would describe herself as an organized, hard working, and dedicated student. Brooke says, "My favorite high school memory is playing Laptop Football in computer class. The old laptops were all being recycled and Miss Garrison let us throw them around." Brooke's favorite subject in school is English. She loves writing and has fun in English with the help of Miss Hurt. After high school, Brooke wants to pursue a medical degree, but she is still undecided on where she will attend. Brooke's advice for underclassmen is, "Work hard in high school because it will pay off and enjoy as much school as you can."

Blake Eckhout

Blake Bernard Eckhout, son of Tom and Becky Eckhout, has participated in football, wrestling, basketball, track, track, FBLA (Vice-President), and drama. Blake has also served as his class president his junior and senior years. Blake considers himself as a motivated student, "most days", and he is working hard to overcome procrastination. "Catching Colin's last pass in the Medicine Valley game for a two-point conversion," is Blake's favorite memory from high school. Blake's favorite subject in school is history. After high school, Blake plans on attending UNL, but his major is still undecided. The advice Blake would give to underclassmen is, "Enjoy every moment and don't wish your life away."
